LOVER OF NATURE?

Let's make a difference in Missouri for 2012

The Missouri Department of Conservation, in conjunction with University of Missouri Extension office, will be starting a training class for the Loess Hills Chapter of Missouri Master Naturalists in St. Joseph. We are looking for motivated volunteers who really want to make a difference!

We will be holding an informational meeting January 31st at 6:00 PM at the MDC Northwest Regional Office at 701 James McCarthy Dr. on the Missouri Western State University Campus. Those who attend will be able to ask questions, get additional information, and pick up an application.

You may pick up an application prior to that time by stopping by the offices of the Missouri Department of Conservation (at the address above) during regular business hours. If you have other questions or comments you may call TJ Peacher at 816-271-3100, or e-mail at thomas.peacher@mdc.mo.gov .

We look forward to seeing you!
